City plans new bridge and bridge repairs

Batavia City Council members Monday created a plan for repairing the Donovan Bridge on Wilson Street and for building a second bridge that will also cross the Fox River. Specifics of the plan, including cost and exact location of the new bridge, will be determined later.

"We will try to determine the location of the new bridge based on traffic patterns and cost," said Mayor Jeffery D. Schielke. He added that it was the council's intent to have the new bridge completed before repairs are made to the Donovan Bridge.
